Methods to track open actions: Work breakdown structure shows a time schedule of tasks to be completed for the Fall semester. Our main priority is continuing our work with our Udemmy course for iOS development (modules 1-10). Furthermore, having user and task flow diagrams constructed to build a wireframe that maps out all the functionality in regard to user experience within the app. The work breakdown report shows the start and end date for our tasks as well as weekly tasks to be done by the entire group. No changes of tasks since last submission, everything is going smoothly according to plan.
